

ON THE WAY TO THE FIGHT

The Fifth ward is remarkable for public spiritedness among men, says the Philadelphia Press, and any one who desires a fight need not go far into its precincts without being accommodated. Last evening a fight occurred in which a man, a woman and two dogs were singularly mixed up. The manner of the extraordinary proceeding is as follows: Lieutenant Oliver, at Fifth and Spruce streets, had his leg injured by the bite of a boy who complained that his leg had been injured by a fall. Two women stopped and expressed sympathy with the boy, and while they and the Lieutenant were endeavoring to allay his condition, two dogs got to fighting. One dog ran around behind one of the women, and the other dog pitched at his antagonist, taking the shortest course, under the dress of the woman. The result was, the last mentioned dog forced his head through the hoops worn by the woman, and in this position seized the other dog. As the dog that was fastened in the hoops plunged forward, away went the woman with him, and as he attempted to pull the other dog either way the woman had to come along. The woman screamed terrifically, and her companion did likewise. A crowd assembled, and the woman whose skirts were entangled by the dog cried lustily that she was being eaten up. Lieutenant Goldy chased about the woman until he obtained hold of the dog by the hind leg, and he pulled with all his strength, but the frame of the hoops had curled tightly around the dog's neck. Lieutenant Goldy now reached his hand toward the dog's head, and the animal became infuriated, the consequence being that dog, man and woman rolled on the pavement in a heterogeneous mass, the other dog jumping around all the time to seize his enemy. The Lieutenant finally gave a terrific jerk at the hoops, which parted at the waist, and the dog started off, dragging the woman a short distance, when she became disengaged from them, and the dog went off with the skirts, his head still in chancery. The woman demanded a new skirt from the Lieutenant, in which she was backed up by her new friend, whereupon the Lieutenant, having become exhausted at the dog fight, beat a retreat, he not desiring to have a woman fight.

Got Him.—A good story is told of a reverend gentleman to whom a farmer complained that ministers earned money much easier than he did.

"Now," said the farmer, "when you are called upon to marry a couple, you never expect a loss sum than three, and you sometimes get ten dollars—this for only a few minutes service."

"Pook!" replied the Doctor, "I would agree to give you half my next marriage fee for a bushel of potatoes."

"Very well," said the farmer, "I'll take your offer and send you the potatoes."

A few days afterward the clergyman was called on to officiate a loving couple at Dea, a place about four miles from where he lived.

When the ceremony was over, the bridegroom said to the worthy minister: "Well, parson, I hope I must fork over something for your trouble. What say you to taking one of my terrier pups? The best breed I tell you in the country. Shooking noise to have in the barn. Worth full five dollars, and I suppose a figure two would do for the splicee, eh?"

The Doctor took the pup with joy. The joke was too good; he hastened to the farmer, saying:—

"Now, friend, here is my fee; how shall we divide it?"

The farmer relished the joke so well that he increased the potatoes to half a dozen bushels.

A young minister went into the country to preach, and observed during his discourse a poor woman who seemed much afflicted. After the service he resolved to pay her a visit, and see what were the impressions on her mind.

"Well," said the woman, "I'll tell you. About six years ago, we had my husband removed to this place, and all the property we had was a dog. Husband, he died, and then we and poor doggy was left alone. At last, doggy, he died; and to tell you the truth, your voice put me so much to mind of that dear old critter, that I couldn't help taking on about it."

In the olden time when pastors "spoke right out in meeting," a clergyman in Baltimore thus addressed the late Mr. Brewster of Kentucky during it is to your reproach that you have disturbed the worship by coming late, living on you do within a mile of this place, and especially so, since here is Godly Barrow, who has milked seven cows, made a cheese, and walked five miles to the house of God in good season."

Gen. Longstreet, it is reported, will make Lynchburg, Va., his temporary home, and will probably remain there during the winter.

WHITE MEN MUST RULE AMERICA

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE FOR THE Best N. Y. Weekly Published NEW YORK DAY-BOOK

Devoted to White Supremacy, State Equality, and Federal Union.

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE. A Political Newspaper—A Family Literary, and an Agricultural Paper.

NOW IS THE TIME TO FORM CLUBS.

The New York Day-Book is a earnest, outspoken and independent paper, devoted to the equality, fraternity and prosperity of the Democratic masses, and the defense of the grand American system of Federal States, on a White basis, established by Washington and the Fathers of American Liberty. It holds that the glorious American system of self-governing States and homogeneous citizenship, which, in seventy years of peace and prosperity, never shed one drop of American blood or convicted a single citizen of disloyalty, or directly taxed the people one dollar for its support, and might safely be extended over the whole "boundless continent," was the best government on the earth, and must be restored "as it was" made by Washington, or the whole land must needs collapse into chaos, anarchy and ruin.

The Day-Book, therefore, demands the restoration of the White Republic, and as this must be accomplished, either through the reason, or the blood and suffering of the people, it earnestly labors for the former, and by boldly grappling with the errors, lunacies and crimes of Mongrelism, it strives its utmost to save the country from the awful necessities of the latter. The Day-Book will, however, hereafter be more than ever devoted to all the varied purposes of a newspaper. Conscious that it reaches thousands of families who take no other journal, beyond, perhaps, their local paper, it will continue and improve its "News of the Week" Summary, so as to present a transcript of the World's events in each issue. It will also give full and complete reports of the New York and Albany Cattle Markets; Grain, Provision and Cotton Markets, and a Weekly Review of Financial Matters, together with the Markets by Telegraph from New Orleans, Chicago, Charleston, Philadelphia, &c., &c., up to time of going to press.

TERMS—CASH IN ADVANCE.
